The Journey begins...

Upon their noble steeds, the heroic pair arrive in the Land of Adventure, where Aurelious first tamed the fearsome beast.

Here be Dragons...

Epico enters the arena roaring and smoking, to the crowd's delight. He properly sniffs the front row!

Taming the beast...

The Golden Child re-enacts the moment when Aurelious Jones first tamed this fearsome beast, stroking the dragon's snout, scratching his ear and giving him a hug.

Look into my eyes...

Aurelious uses an ancient coin & the Dark Art of Hypnosis to subdue the dragon, the audience remains unconvinced...

More Peril!

To satisfy the audience's demands, Aurelious Jones then places his head inside the dragon's mouth and receives a good chewing! Requiring rescue Aurelious becomes angry and upset. He needs the help of the audience to learn how to be an excellent friend to Epico.

Peril!

To prove to the doubters that he commands the beast, Aurelious convinces the child to put their head into the Dragons mouth!

And they all lived happily ever after...

With friendship restored between man and beast, Aurelious thanks the Golden child. Knighting them and making them a member of the Order of Aurelious, sworn to protect these islands from Dragons and no-goods. The child is returned to the ordinary world where the audience applauds their valour.

Epico snuffles the crowd as a final goodbye, before the characters return to their tent
